

The evidence is overwhelming. When there are fewer owners, they are less, and ultimately, not accountable. The debacle of Clear Channel Communications in Minot, North Dakota is the most compelling recent story. Unfortunately, it is far too unlikely to be the last. Please do not permit further erosion of diversity, accountability and access with respect to the media.